Is It More Than a Kidney Stone?

Identifying and Managing Patients with a
Rare Kidney Disease, Primary Hyperoxaluria Type 1

Saturday, October 27, 2018

1:00 – 2:00 pm

Exhibit Hall: Theater 2

Join us as we raise awareness of primary hyperoxaluria type 1, which should be part of the differential diagnosis for patients with kidney stones. This ultra-rare disease is often missed due to its heterogenous presentation, and early diagnosis is critical to prevent serious sequelae, such as systemic oxalosis and renal failure. The presentation will include an overview of current treatment options and investigational therapies in development.
