Fellow of American Society of Nephrology

ASN members who earn the status of Fellow of the American Society of Nephrology (FASN) have distinguished themselves through professional excellence and achievement. This designation represents recognition by the society of outstanding credentials, meritorious professional accomplishments, demonstrated scholarship, and a commitment to improving kidney health.

FASN Status

FASN Status will remain valid for the duration of ASN membership as long as members maintain ASN Membership.

(International members qualified for FASN status may submit equivalent credentials)

Apply

Complete and mail the attached form to ASN, along with your curriculum vitae (CV). ASN will acknowledge receipt of your application by email and contact if additional information is required.

Benefits of Earning FASN Status

- Professional designation that represents outstanding achievement
- FASN Certificate
- FASN pin
- Recognition by ASN in various forums, such as on the Society's website

FASN Application Fee

Application and current CV must be accompanied by one-time processing fee $150

To earn FASN status, candidate must

1. Maintain ASN membership. At the time of submitting a FASN application, the candidate must be an ASN member. Membership status must remain current to avoid an interruption in FASN status. If an interruption occurs, the candidate must reapply.
